

Hadyn Minnigh

- Looked up horizontal divs, found https://trishagee.com/2011/01/17/css\_for\_developers\_horizontal\_layout\_using\_css/ for display: inline-block;
  - I will say, it didnt say inline-block specifically, but I remembered that inline-block was something that i could do because i've worked with
- 0 margin and padding in body

Sam Vassallo

- .product, reduced padding and added margin
- Added a:visited and a:active, made them purple
  - Added numbers to # in links as place holders so they would be different

Ria Chittargi

- Changed margin of h2 to 2px
- Added hover to products

Learnings:

This activity was a good exercise of problem solving! I think it helps with figuring out what to look up in order to find resources for what you want to do in HTML and CSS. The hardest part was definitely the inline-block part because you kind of have to keep digging until you find specifically what you want, but you also have to know what you want to happen.